

ROOSEVELT IS ON WAY SOUTH

President Started From Washington This Morning--Arrived At Richmond Safely.

IS PAYING THE COST OF THE TRIP

When He Returns To Washington He Will Have Visited Every State And Territory On This Continent.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]

Washington, Oct. 18.—The President left on schedule time this morning at eight-thirty for his southern tour. The French ambassador was among those at the station to bid him farewell. All the way down the station sheds the President bowed and exclaimed, "God-bye, good-bye." Secret Service Chief, Wilkie, United States Marshal Palmer, and squads of officers guarded him. Beside the President and Mrs. Roosevelt aboard the train were: John A. McIlhenny of Louisiana; John C. Greenway of Michigan; John S. Elliott, commissioner of the interior for Porto Rico, and a representative of a southern railway.

The Trip
The stop at Richmond marks the beginning of the trip, during which he will visit North and South Carolina, Georgia, calling at the birthplace of his mother, Mobile, Birmingham, and Tuskegee, and then across to Little Rock, and from Arkansas down to New Orleans. The tour is so laid out that Mr. Roosevelt will take in all the states that he has not visited since he entered the White House. When the trip is ended, the President will be able to say that he has visited every state and territory of the continental United States. Only the President and Secretary Loeb will take the trip from Little Rock to New Orleans, the other members of the party returning to Washington. This is because Mr. Roosevelt feels that he should not be involved in plunging anyone else into the hazard of a fever affliction. As a matter of fact no one believes the risk great enough to be considered.

Pays His Way
It has been definitely stated that the entire expense of the President's trip will be paid by Mr. Roosevelt out of his own pocket, an amount which will reach between $5,000 and $6,000. He will accept no reductions or favors of any kind. The railroads will furnish three cars as far as Little Rock and Memphis and two cars will be used in conveying the rest of the party from Memphis to Washington. The railroads would have been glad to furnish the transportation and other facilities of the journey free of charge, but the President, who is intent upon securing railroad legislation, did not think it proper that he should accept free transportation.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—The President's first stop was at Fredericksburg, where he spoke briefly while the engineer was taking water. At Fredericksburg he received a telegram announcing the death of Gov. Glenn of North Carolina, which will cause an alteration in the plans of entertainment at Raleigh. A short address was made from the rear platform at Ashland.

Crowds at Richmond
Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—When the presidential train arrived here today over the Southern railroad, the party was greeted by one of the largest crowds ever witnessed in this city, many persons having begun to congregate about Main street station as early as nine o'clock this morning. The arrival of the President was heralded by a salute from the city. The committee headed by Governor Montague and Mayor Carlton, went aboard and formally received the President. This was followed by the parade to the Jefferson hotel, the line of march starting at Main street, going to Fifth, thence to Franklin and along Franklin to the Jefferson hotel. All along the line of march the party was cheered, and the President continued to smile and bow to the throngs lined on either side. The infantry was led by Capt. Morgan R. Miles, with Major L. T. Morgan as chief of staff. The program for the afternoon includes an address by the President in Capitol Square, a parade to Masonic Temple and luncheon, a drive to points of interest about the city, including Lee monument and St. John's church. The party leaves tonight at seven o'clock from Main street station over the Seaboard Air Line for Raleigh.

DENVER BANK OFFICIALS MUST FACE THE COURT

Men Connected With The Denver Savings Institution Are Under Indictment--Loans Without Collateral.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 18.—Ten men who are either officers or former officers of the defunct Denver Savings bank, have been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to steal $7,122,587 from that institution. They are: Leonard Imboden, James A. Hill, C. B. Wilfley, E. E. Hull, H. L. Hull, C. C. Roberts, W. T. Camp, D. M. Carey, A. B. Davis and J. H. Edmondson.

Hill is charged with embezzling $10,000 in addition to the above charges, and Edmondson is charged with embezzling on five different dates a total of $105,000.

C. B. Wilfley is charged with embezzling sums aggregating $7,800, in addition to the previous charges made by the grand jury.

In all there were eleven indictments, and the men having more than one against them are Hill (two); Wilfley (four); and Edmondson (six). One of each of these is included in the general indictment against all eleven charging them with gigantic schemes to rob the depositors of the bank.

Had Access to Funds.
It is specifically set forth that they chose the men to run the bank and that notes, certificates of deposit, drafts and other effects were to be honored as good when they were known to the officers and to the men making them to be absolutely worthless and not to have a cent as collateral.

"The grand jury sets forth that the nine men conspired to run railroads, banks, and financial institutions, all kinds of trusts; companies and industrial concerns of many and various kinds in Texas, Oklahoma, and Indian territory, Kansas, Missouri, Massachusetts, and Colorado, and in other parts of the United States, the exact places of which are unknown to the grand jury.

Many Irons in the Fire.
Some of the institutions that the indicted men are charged with running and not connected directly with the Denver Savings bank are the Central Trust company or Fort Worth, the Texas State Trust company, and the Bank of Commerce at the same place; Bank of Enid, Okla.; Bank of Alameda, Light, Heat and Power company of Kingfisher, Okla.; Cherokee National bank and the Cherokee Trust company of Vinita, I. T.; Merchants and Planters' bank of Jefferson, Tex.; Garber State bank of Garber, Okla.; Farmers and Merchants' bank of Kiel, Okla.; Farmers and Merchants' bank of Canadian, Okla.; First State bank of Talala, I. T.; Mount Vernon National bank of Denver, the Gulf, Texas and Northern Railroad company of Texas.

Imboden, Hill and Wilfley say they are ready to face the charges with a clear conscience.

The state also asks that both the companies be denied the right further to do business in Arkansas. UNCLE SAM IS TO BE THE CHIEF

It Is Now Decided To Feed The Panama Laborers On Government Rations.

INCOME WILL NOT COVER THE COST

Redeeming Feature Is Found, That Better Food Can Be Given The Men Than They Would Otherwise Receive.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 18.—Canal Commissioner T. P. Shonts and members of the international board of consulting engineers, who went to inspect the Panama canal Sept. 28, returned Tuesday morning, looking healthy and glad to get back.

Mr. Shonts, chairman of the commission, appeared to be well pleased with the improved conditions he found on the isthmus. The question of food supplies is being carried out properly with regard to the employees, but at a monetary loss to the canal commission. The board of expert foreign engineers, he said, had thoroughly inspected the route of the canal from Colon to Panama, and on Dec. 1 they expected to report and recommend what they consider the best kind of canal to dig.

Speaking about the sanitation progress which has been made on the isthmus, Commissioner Shonts told why the contract for feeding the canal employees was taken away from J. E. Markel of Omaha, who got the contract. When the contract was granted, the successful bidders, the Hensley, Balke and Hudgens & Dumas, the unsuccessful bidders, objected on the ground that they had been compelled to revise their bids on too short notice. They also declared the bills of fare which formed the contract contained some peculiar plagiarisms from the officers made by the unsuccessful bidders.

Men Were Starving.
Of the revocation of the contract Mr. Shonts said:

"The Markel contract was revoked by mutual consent, because the commission had decided to try to feed the men with its own equipment and staffs. When I went to the isthmus on the trip before this I found the conditions of the food supply as bad as they could be. Not only was the food dear and of inferior quality, but in some sections the men confronted actual starvation. We resolved to take up the food question first. Our first act was to order the commissaries to open a supply of the immediate necessities of life to the employees at the lowest possible price. I discussed the question with Gov. Magoon and Chief Engineer Stevens, and we all agreed the government must furnish the plant and equipment."

"I suggested that if we had to the canal and build the refrigerating houses, laundries, etc., we should run them ourselves. For Magoon said he knew nothing about keeping hotels and Mr. Stevens had no time to attend to such matters.

Conditions Are Improved.

"After I had returned to the states all the cables I received from Stevens showed things were getting rapidly worse and something had to be done. It was a grave emergency. We did the best we could and asked for bids for feeding the men. The contract went to Mr. Markel and in it was a clause which stated it could be revoked on thirty days' notice."

"When I went to the isthmus this time I found the conditions greatly improved. The employees are getting their food supplies at moderate rates and the emergency has been passed over."

"I discussed the food question again with my fellow commissioners and pointed out that the bids were all guesswork and no one knew for a certainty what the expense of feeding the men would be. If Markel's bid was too low he would quit and if he made money out of it the men would shout. I suggested we should try the experiment ourselves for three or four months until the hotels were ready and see how it worked out. My idea was adopted. We called Mr. Markel in and told him our decision. He took it well. He said he would waive his thirty days' notice. The present charge is $22.50 for food and $2.50 for a room; a month. The colored laborers pay 30 cents silver a day."

"We intended to let things run for a sufficient time to see how much it costs to feed the men. If it is too expensive, or if our organization takes up too much time, the contract will be put up again for new bids. All we know now is we are losing money feeding the men at $22.50 a month. I should judge we are now feeding between 2,000 and 3,000 persons. There are over 1,800 on the rolls. Two hotels and seven mess houses have been erected, and 2,500 of the old French houses are to be rebuilt. The natives are not thrifty and will not work. If we increased their wages they would work only three days a week instead of six."

"There is a steady supply of negro labor from Jamaica, Fortunate Island, Martinique, Guadeloupe, West Indies, and our engineers have learned how to handle the men."

"That" ere 7-year-old nephew of mine," said the Old Codger, "is likely to be noted some day on account of his originality. Adam and William Tell and Sir Isaac Newton and my beloved little nephew, just last night, all had adventures with apples, and the result in his case was as different from that in any of their cases as theirs were different from each other."--Puck.

The following are dead: Mrs. Thomas Files, Mrs. William Stewart, William Mann, Harrison Mann. Four are fatally injured and forty hurt. Forty buildings were destroyed. The storm lasted only a few minutes, but its violence was terrific. It cut a path through the center of the town. The storm struck the town from the southeast corner, just missing the upper works of the Sorento mine. It was followed by a deluge of rain that made the work of rescue more difficult. All wires but one are down.

RAINSTORM WAS VERY WELCOME

THOUGH SOME SERIOUS DAMAGE WAS DONE.

LIGHTNING STRUCK A HOUSE

At 16 Bennett Street, Occupied by Miss Anna Andrews and a Nephew—Both Escaped.

For a storm that had been in progress nearly twenty hours, that of yesterday showed remarkable "reserve strength" at the finish. The down-pour during the last few hours of its duration was something immense. The rain was so badly needed that even those whose collars were flooded scarcely had the hardihood to complain. Out in the country the ground has been so dry and hard, owing to the long drought, that the fall-plowing in many instances could not be attempted. The earth was so devoid of moisture right here in the city that in many instances it presented a sieve-like consistency through which the water fairly dripped to a depth of four or five feet. Janesville and the country roundabout were undeniably dry.

House Struck by Lightning

There was a vivid electrical display in the heavens about eight o'clock last evening and shortly after that hour a bolt of lightning came down the chimney in the front part of the house at 16 Bennett street occupied by Miss Anna Andrews. The ridge-board of the roof was shattered, a large area of plaster was torn from the lathing, and curious holes were burned in some of the curtains and clothing in the house. Strangely enough, nothing caught fire, and Miss Andrews and her nephew, Bert Beck, the only occupants of the house, escaped with nothing worse than a severe shock.

Trouble With the Wires

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. had one phone burned out. An electric light wire fell across one of the guy wires near the Five Points and nearly burned it in two. The Rock County Telephone Co. had no trouble here but there was some difficulty for a few hours with the Mineral Point wire. The Postal Telephone Co. had a wire down somewhere near Beloit, but the trouble was remedied during the night. Burned out fuses were the only incidents experienced by the Electric Light Co.

Wash-Outs in Sewers

On the streets where the sewer excavations are in progress, there were some big wash-outs. Extra red lights had to be placed on North Academy street to warn drivers. Considerable damage of the same nature was done on South Academy and Pleasant streets and South River street, owing to the blocking of the sewers by the large volume of water, was flooded. Gutters and sewer gratings were clogged with leaves and other flotsam and the street commissioner's force will have extra work ahead for several days.

Curbing Protected Macadam

On the hill streets where curbing has recently been put in the macadam held much better than heretofore. The water got into the Thomas Welsh leaf warehouse and a force was busy for some hours moving the tobacco out of reach. There was a miniature lake at the Five Points crossing and cellars in that locality were badly flooded.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ARE MUCH BRIGHTER

Coach King is Rounding Wisconsin Into Shape—The Hospital List.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—The personnel of the team of football players to be selected by Coach Phil King to meet the maroons of the University of Chicago at Camp Randall Saturday is still undetermined and is in fact problematical. It will be affected by the determination reached by Professor Adams, faculty supervisor of athletics, in the cases of Kemp and Clark, who are temporarily "held up" on account of scholastic deficiencies, and also by the condition in which the injuries of Vanderboom, Deering and Hunt leave them when the time for the big game arrives. At center, Larish, a 200-pound line student, who played substitute center and guard for two years, has been seen in practice for two days this week, when the doubt as to Kemp's qualifications was greatest. At right guard, Gelback, will probably play against Chicago as Hunt is still suffering lameness from his sprained ankle received in the Notre Dame game in Milwaukee last Saturday. Donovan, the tall 200-pound Irishman, will play left guard, and at left tackle will be Wilson "Slam" Berke, making perhaps the strongest left side of the west this year, and depended upon to open wide holes in the Chicago line for the rushes of the Wisconsin backs. Therefore, it is to be expected that the right side of the Chicago line, pitted against Berke and Donovan, will have to bear the brunt of the Badger attack. Thad. Brindley, last year's tackle, will be at left end, but may be succeeded by Wagner. This is the place where the coaches would like to put Floyd Clark, the strong Nebraska, who has played now three seasons at Madison. But Clark is "knocked out" by the faculty and it is unlikely that he will be able to fix things up in time to get into the game Saturday. Unless Brindley shows unexpected strength and Berke and Donovan can spread out widely on the defensive play Chicago is apt to find good picking on the left end of Wisconsin. Irving J. Bush, last year's captain and one of the most reliable and steady players on the Badger team, will be at right end, his usual place, and he can be depended upon to hold his own there. Melzner will act as field captain or general, and will call the signals from his position of quarterback. Early this week it was reported that King had settled upon Kuehnstedt for quarterback, but Melzner has been in the lineup for the last two days. Melzner runs the team much faster than Kuehnstedt, and although lighter by some 25 pounds appears to do better defensive work than his rival. A. G. Findlay of Aurora, Ill., who played tackle two years ago, and last year, is a fixture at right halfback. Although he has not been well for the past week, it is expected that he will be in good shape Saturday and will last through the entire contest. Roseth will play fullback. He is on the varsity eleven for his first year, but has played a strong, consistent game and above all other candidates. At left halfback there is another problem, that of the condition of Captain Vanderboom. His work this fall has been a great disappointment, particularly in view of the development that he reported broken jaw and cheekbone received in the Marinette game nearly a month ago, was magnified in the current reports. He has not appeared in a single scrimmage practice since the Marinette game, but will surely go in at halfback at the start of the Chicago game. It is not expected that he will last long, however, and some followers of the cardinal declare that the sooner he leaves the game the better it will be for the chances of the Badgers. Others there are who still hope that Vanderboom will redeem himself and surprise everybody by lasting the whole game and making a star showing.

Stuart dyspepsia tablet ad

It's All Wrong and Man Is The Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual charge of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring, adds more tissue than is destroyed, and increases weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man get before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stephenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quick nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50c per package. They are in large form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth, scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

It's All Wrong and Man Is The Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual charge of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring, adds more tissue than is destroyed, and increases weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man get before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stephenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quick nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." IT IS

AS EASILY REGULATED AS A LAMP—every door, draft and joint on the famous genuine ROUND OAK Heating Stove fits. Pains-taking workmanship, right principle of construction, with the best material money will buy, are the reasons why this famous stove holds the fire, saves the fuel and satisfies the purchaser.

You take no chances when you decide on a ROUND OAK, no matter what kind of fuel you wish to burn—hard coal (with or without magazine), soft coal, coke or wood.

With the hot blast (used only for soft coal), a steady, even fire is secured, which consumes the soot and gases; the double fire grate with rim discharge, prevents the formation of clinkers.

Think what a satisfaction that is—just shaking the grate cleans the entire bottom of the fire alike.

There is no other stove like it—others are made to look like it, but there the resemblance stops.

Look for the name on the leg, then you will know it is the original, genuine ROUND OAK.

"Gentlemen, I cordially wish every hardware dealer in this country health, happiness and prosperity."

H. L. McNAMARA

104-106 W. MILWAUKEE ST.

= FORTY YEARS AGO =

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, October 18.—Personal.—The many friends of Dr. Henry Palmer will be glad to learn of his intention to return to this city and take up his residence in about two weeks.

Laid Over.—A large number of communications, several dozens, we judge by the size of the pile, all relating to the Assembly canvass in this city, are necessarily being held in abeyance until they see daylight, the world will manage to wag on as usual, and nobody but the writers will be any the worse off. Have patience, gentlemen.

A Remarkable Exhibition Coming to Janesville.—The great exhibition known as the Miltonian Tableau of Paradise Lost, from London, England, which has been exhibited in the various cities of the East and West during the past year, will visit this city for the first time and be shown at Leppin's Hall for several nights previous to being opened in New York, commencing here on Friday evening, October 20.

We copy the following description of this exhibition from the London Times. "This great work of art was got up in London, England, at the expense of $60,000 and is a complete illustration of John Milton's immortal poem, entitled 'Paradise Lost,' and carrying out his idea of Heaven, Hell, Chaos and Paradise. Showing the rebellion of Satan, the war of the Angels, the fall of Satan and the fall of man. It first exhibited in London for 280 consecutive nights, and was, during that time, visited by more than half a million people, including royalty, nobility, the gentry and clergy. By the order of Queen Victoria it was set up in Buckingham palace, and exhibited before her and the entire Court."

The exhibition is pronounced by the entire press and competent judges to be the finest work of art gotten up in modern times and worth going miles to see. So far in America the halls have not been large enough to hold the crowds that have thronged to see it. We predict a great audience at Leppin's Hall while this here, and will undoubtedly prove one of the greatest attractions ever opened in this city. Lookout for the bills that will be circulated throughout the city this week and next.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

Miss Florence Townsend, the solo dancer in "The Gozzer of Gec" comic opera which comes to the Myers Grand on Wednesday, October 18, owes her promotion from the chorus girl ranks to her present position, to her quick-wittedness. It was her opening night at the Garrick theater in Chicago when by some reason or other there was a stage wait of considerable dimensions. Miss Townsend jumped into the breach and improvised a clever "dance" all at a moment's notice. Her efforts immediately won the appreciation of the audience who demanded encore after encore. Mr. Block, the manager, to show his appreciation for the service, immediately made this one of the features of the performance. The act has been considerably enlarged and is now one of the most popular numbers of the entertainment.

LOCAL LUTHER BURBANK.

New Yorker Who Emulates the Example of the California Wizard.

"I am now experimenting with a Japanese vegetable in my country place," said the prosperous commuter, according to the New York Herald, "and I expect that it will prove to be a new salad to tempt fastidious American palates. Nor am I alone in this belief, for the seeds of the udo plant were presented to me by scientific agriculturists who have noted its popularity in Japan and its many good qualities. I have reason to believe that Luther Burbank, the California wizard, is on the same trail."

The result so far obtained in my cultivation of the moyashi udo is already tempting me to think of exploiting it on a large scale as soon as I can find a good descriptive name for it. This exploitation cannot be monopolized and I advise truck gardeners to investigate its merits.

Moyashi udo is now grown in many conservatories as an ornamental plant, and many bons vivants may be surprised to know that in it they have an oriental vegetable that surpasses asparagus, celery or lettuce as a table delicacy, and in fact it seems to be a successful combination of all three.

The udo salad has the delightful crispness of celery, a flavor between pineapple and lettuce, and the appearance of asparagus. When served it is absolutely without fiber, white as snow and with an appearance like to flossy silk. So tasty is it that I have to stand guard over my udo patch in order to prevent my wife from devastating it in order to garnish the table.

However, I'm sure that its popularity could rest on the sole fact that it matures in winter time, although even at this season my moyashi udo is very palatable.

"I wonder if we're going to feel the 'yeller peril' in the vegetable line? I'm unpatriotic enough to hope so."

SHOOTS RATS FOR LIVING.

Baltimore Man Goes After Rodents Just as a Hunter Goes After Game.

There is a rat catcher who visits Baltimore periodically to rid hotels, among other places, of the rodent pests. Among the hotels he has two regular customers, and his advent is always the signal for the pleasures of the chase in a small way, says the News.

This rat catcher is not a piper of Pan. He has no method of charming rats, but goes after them just as any hunter in the big woods would stalk his game. He does not sit down in front of a rat hole and tease the rodents forth with the sweet strains on a tin flute. Instead, he carries a small air rifle, and it does the work. He makes straight for the basement, kitchen, baggage room and open plumbing, where rat holes will be found, if they are anywhere. Having located his rat hole, which he seems to accomplish almost by instinct, he listens to the opening until his keen ear detects a scratching or a squeak. He unerringly locates his quarry by this sound, inserts his rifle at just the right angle, and fires. If he misses—but what's the use—he doesn't. He hits his man every time. Then, with a long hooked wire he probes into the hole and draws his victim out. Now and then he strikes a nest of young. In such cases it is usually an easy matter to hook the nest and all and drag the pests from their palatial residence. His is a peculiar calling, but has its uses. And it's better than killing rats with poison and having them die within the walls.

PURIFIED BY ELECTRICITY.

Noisome Waters of the Schuylkill River Cleared by the Use of Ozone.

Philadelphia's notoriously bad water is now washed and made clean by ozone. Water from the Schuylkill river contains as much as 2,500,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter; but after a preliminary straining this noxious populace is reduced to 700,000, and after the ozone treatment to from 5 to 55, and these few survivors are said to be innocuous. The water is also deodorized and freed from color. It is all done in this wise: A motor generator, producing a current of 100 alternations, is operated by a current taken from the city supply. The current from the generator is raised by transformers and condensers to a voltage of 10,000. Voltaic arcs are prevented and sparks are limited by means of resistance coils and condensers, and the current in form of a pencil of blue light passes from each of some millions of metallic discharge points across a short air gap to nickel receivers. By means of a pump air is drawn across this gap, and in its passage is partially converted into ozone. It is then forced through a stand pipe in which it meets a current of water flowing in an opposite direction. The bacteria contained in the water are instantly destroyed by the ozone and the water is purified.

Canine Precocity.

A dog limped into the London hospital one day recently, and holding up a cut foot to an attendant asked him in canine language to dress it. This was done, and the dog returned to the hospital daily for the remainder of the week to have the dressing renewed.

Two Statements.

Knox—Some people are saying that you made most of your money in politics. Leader—But others are saying I made most of my money out of politics. So who are you going to believe?—Philadelphia Ledger.

The North Carolina Pine association and the South Carolina body were consolidated, with a combined capital of $20,000,000 and an output of 100,000,000 feet a month.

VELVET AND THE CARRIAGE COAT

The extreme of simplicity is rendered still more effective in the clever fashion that the trimming scheme of this charming carriage coat displays. The style is that of the early Victorian, a period in fashion that has been introduced with success in high-class garments, but has failed of acceptance in gowns of more utilitarian intent. In this example velvet, chiffon and bouillonne ribbons—all in black—add cleverly relieved with an application of Irish crocheted on the shoulders and the garment, the coat pleated full to the skirt, and to this a full dounce is shirred, so that the width at the hem is down, and to this a full dounce is shirred. The upper part of the sleeve is of chiffon, with elaborate appliques of bouillonne ribbons and a quaint velvet pull, flat and baggy and extremely loose in effect, appears below the elbow and broadens the line of the very full sleeve. The ribbon bouillonne are artistically interlaced with the crocheted to form a trimming scheme below the neck, and the coat is finished with the open collarless throat that is so modish at the present moment.

Showers and cooler.

"An example easy to be imitated in its faults" is that of a store-advertiser who uses a page of space on one day and a quarter column on another—store expenses, in other directions, being as great on one day as the other, and "necessary income" remaining unchanged.

Chicago is hard at work explaining to the world just why. Simply just why!

Most of the reports coming from colleges just now sound like hospital reports.

Wisconsin is not like Iowa, but it may be if some one begins "something."

Football takes the field while baseball takes to the fireside to tell how it all happened.

Where was Mrs. Chadwick when Banker Dougherty was handing out those plums.

The life insurance game seems to be like the lightning rod game. Everything in sight but the cost.

That careless Washington correspondent has sent out word that Taft is getting thick. Is he dieting?

Many persons will be surprised to learn that football is brutal. This is according to a prize-fighters' scale of thought.

Why not have a grand jury investigate and find out why the White Sox lost the Chicago city championship last Sunday.

King football rules supreme. In some colleges it is a regular course of study under competent professors who are paid large salaries.

While New York and Philadelphia were fighting for the baseball championship Boston slipped in and stole the golf honors for women.

Those Missouri policy holders of the big insurance companies must feel like getting down their old guns and going hunting for agents.

Evidently Madison has at last realized that it is time to wake up and do business. It was either asphalt their streets or lose the capitol building.

To think that all that trouble in Peoria was brought about by a thirty dollar bill. Be careful now and that you do not owe any thirty dollars to an editor.

Perhaps before they got through down at Peoria they may find that Dougherty loaned either Cassie Chadwick or Banker Bigelow funds of the school board.

The university has quite a polyglot crowd with Philippine Islanders, Swiss, South Americans and the rest of the parts of the world in attendance.

Mayor Duane is anxious to know whether the Chicago common council is in earnest or only fooling upon the question of municipal ownership.

The State Bologna Board won another victory for the state in their fight against the wicked packers in Chicago. All hail to the preservers of "God's Patient Poor."

It may be all right to have grand juries investigate criminal matters and so forth, but when they are used for the furthering of personal and political purposes then it is time to call a halt.

William Randolph Hearst sought to be President and now seeks to be Mayor of Greater New York. Poor Willie! His "yellow kid" will never land in either chair.

That little "halo" which has been stunted in growth about Rockefeller's head by the tainted money crusade, has received another set back when a Madison pastor takes a crack at "tainted money."

On Saturday the Wisconsin and Chicago teams meet in mortal combat on the gridiron. All praise be to "King's Warriors" and may they hit, as the Irishman expressed when hit,

In the eye by an opponent. "More power to ye, ye scoundrel, I'll lick ye yet."

Jim Howard is not to be given the first opportunity possible to prove his innocence, but must wait his turn. There are other cases just as important as Jim's, even if he is alleged to have killed Governor Goebel.

It is to be presumed that in carrying out that great work of reform in football secretary Taft will play an important part and might be induced to add his best to some good first-class aggregation just to show how the game should be played.

STUDENTS' EXCESSES.

Disorderly acts committed by students are perhaps less numerous than reported this fall than in some former years, but here are still too many and so outrageous have they thus far been, indeed, that the presidents of three of the foremost universities have been impelled to take serious action upon them. "One has suspended for a year three members of his second year's class. The other two, in addition to such enforcement of discipline, have expressed to the police the hope that they will not discriminate in favor of students who break the laws, but will treat them as they would any other offenders. In this we are inclined strongly to sympathize with the presidents, and to wish that other heads of institutions might adopt the same course, says the New York Tribune.

The plea that "youth must have its fling" and that due allowance must be made for the effervescent animal spirits of young men is not to be ignored. We appreciate its weight. We have heard elaborate arguments in favor of college athletics on the ground that they afford a healthful means of gratifying those effervescent spirits and so make for orderliness of deportment; but we are afraid that breaches of order are as frequent in institutions famous for their athletics as they are elsewhere. We cannot see, either, why young men in college, just because they are in college, are any more entitled to indulge in such ebullitions than are other young men of the same age who are not in college. If the young men of a community who are not collegians should act as many collegians do they would be regarded as either fools or ruffians. Why should that which would be intolerable in the one case be condoned in that other? We cannot concede that matriculation in an institution of liberal culture gives license for ruffianism.

Interclass rivalry, especially between sophomores and freshmen, is inevitable. It is not greatly, if at all, to be regretted. But there is one rivalry of man and another rivalry of brutes. Against fair and manly contests of strength, agility or shrewdness, conducted within the college enclosure, we have not a word to say, nor do we disapprove the enforcement of certain traditional customs as the result of such contests. But the humiliating and painful and sometimes dangerous "hazing" of solitary individuals by overwhelming numbers is never anything more than contemptible cowardice and callousness, while the carrying of student brawls upon the streets and into hotels and theatres, to the discomfort, annoyance and peril of the unconcerned public is simple lawbreaking which should be suppressed and punished like any other similar misdemeanors. To be a "college town" is a source of pride to an American community, but it would be an unenviable and a dreaded distinction if the student body were to form a lawless guild, exempt from the common restrictions of civilized and cultivated life. Manliness and respect for law and order are essential elements of real culture, and those who are unwilling to acquire and to practise those qualities have no place in a college or university.

PRESS COMMENT.

Aimed at Scandal-Mongers.
Denver News: There is at least one redeeming feature about a parrot—it only repeats just what it hears.

Shout The Glad Tidings!
Chicago Tribune: Sound the loud timbrel o'er all the North sea; the riksdag has voted, and Norway is free.

Not Worried by Trifles
Chicago News: Does Mr. Olney suppose that Mr. Bryan is worried because his proposed railway regulation plan is unconstitutional?

Sly Hint to Alfonso.
Berlin Journal: King Alfonso of Spain is in search of a wife and has gone to Berlin, Germany. He could as well be coming to Berlin, Wis., on der Fox.

Having Been Scorned Once.
Wausau Record: Every once in a while some one hops up to name congressman Esch for governor. But it may be that the congressman has not forgotten that he thought he was a candidate for senator.

Pudding for the Lawyers.
Racine Journal: The treasury of the Chicago teamsters' union since May has yielded up about $75,000 for expenses growing out of alleged acts of violence, going to pay costs of lawyers and court fees mostly.

Trial by Jury in Kentucky.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The continued stir about Caleb Powers shows that trial by twelve Kentucky Democrats has no relation to the jury system, but is just a sure-thing skin game carried on in a courtroom.

The Real Hall of Fame.
Milwaukee Sentinel: After all, the newspaper columns institute the popular hall of fame. In them are posted the names of great men and women, persons applying for divorces, and others who have been cured by taking Somebody's new invention.

Mother-in-Law Vindicated.
Marquette Eagle-Star: It is a terrible blow to the writer of jokes, the divorce lawyer and the chronic licker, but it is the truth, that Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia gives the credit of his success as a business man and even as a politician to the mother of his wife.

One Way—Kill Off Boys.
Fond du Lac Bulletin: The only way to put a stop to these annual college pranks is to prohibit the coming of boys; to allow only girls to be born. Who wants any such arrangements as that? Certainly no one who still keeps in mind that he was a boy himself once.

Picture Connor Up Nights!
Milwaukee News: If Governor La Follette should conclude to hand the senatorship over to Uncle Ike and run for governor again, chairman Connor, of course, would sit up nights to argue with the voters to stand for a fourth term and "the reforms."

Isn't This Over-Working Farnson?
Madison Journal: Talk of Mr. Farnson and the interurban is persistent and official, too. He says of the lines that the $5,000,000 already spent will be duplicated. Madison is on his list and perhaps an extension to the Dells.

Buckwheat's Hour Is Near.
Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The persistence with which the state dairy and food commission is hunting out the violators of the pure food law is sitting up and taking notice. The meat dealers are the ones receiving the largest degree of attention just now, but as soon as the buckwheat season arrives they may have company.

Oshkosh Contemporary Ticked.
Oshkosh Northwestern: A decided hit was made by a New York band in attendance at a so-called beauty show held in that city last week. The young women who were on exhibition were garbed only in union suits, and the director of the band was struck by a happy thought which caused him to have the band strike up the good old tune of "The Union forever! Hurrah, boys, hurrah!"

Will This Thing Stand.
Madison Journal: The attorney general's office has got things in such shape that a railway official may not give a pass to the secretary of a commercial club who thinks he has business on hand that may be of value to the railway as well as to the interests of the company he represents. It follows if some old fellow who went to school with Marvin Hewitt—poor and bedridden—climbs up stairs to the magnate and requests a lift to Iowa that the kindly old gentleman must refuse him. We doubt if this sort of thing will stand long in the courts.

An Odd Yarn From Kansas.
Evening Wisconsin: Kansas has certainly ceased to be a prohibition state, when even an elephant can procure the means of intoxication there, without a physician's prescription. An elephant belonging to a carnival company, drunk nine-quarts of whiskey, in a saloon at Wichita last night, and, on being refused more liquor, thrust his trunk over the bar and swept all the glasses from the sideboard. Then he got hold of a heavy decanter, and, whirling it over his head, brought it down with such force as to smash a hole in the top of the bar. The elephant finally reposed upon his haunches and went to sleep. Certainly Kansas, at least during carnival season, is no longer a dry state—for if the Wichita elephant was not drunk the Wichita correspondent who wired the story was.

Forgot All About Poor Show.
New York Herald: Thomas Jefferson and his company appeared in "Rip Van Winkle" at Wallack's theatre last night before an audience which contained many personal friends of the late Joseph Jefferson, as well as the members of his family. Boxes were occupied by Cleveland who were accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Bryant, Gen. and Mrs. Frederick D. Wright, Gen. Horace Porter, Lieut. C. Grant, and former Supreme Court Justice Alton B. Parker and Mrs. Parker. During the intermission Mrs. and Mrs. Cleveland were visited by members of the box parties, and the audience never lost an opportunity to applaud those in the performance. Cleveland went back on the stage, where he congratulated the star. When Mr. Cleveland reappeared in the lobby of the theatre the audience which had waited for him, gave him a rousing cheer, which he acknowledged with many bows before going into his carriage.

Irving Died of Grief.
Rockford Register-Gazette: Sir Henry Irving died a disappointed, broken-hearted man. His last days—even his last hours—were tinged with the bitterness of a personal humiliation. He had lost his fortune, had seen the Lyceum theatre where he had achieved his greatest fame and where he had produced his sublimest tragedies, turned into a second rate music hall while he himself was driven from theatre to theatre taking his chances for favorable dates in the provinces as any ordinary actor.

It is now known that Irving lost vast sums during recent years in the elaborate but unsuccessful productions of Faust, Coriolanus, Robespierre and Dante, and it was the run of bad luck which these plays encountered that caused the Lyceum management to slip from his control two years ago, compelling him to seek the hospitality of strange theatres.

Neither his spirit nor his health survived this humiliation. His differences with Ellen Terry aggravated the old actor's troubles about the same time, when she essayed a starring career on her own account. They never were friends afterwards.

It is likely that Sir Henry Irving will be buried in Westminster Abbey, in the poets' corner where lie the bodies of Garrick, Mrs. Siddons and other theatrical celebrities.

Already a movement is under way for the erection of a lasting memorial to the dead tragedian.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY.

Nice men tell no tales.
Money makes the time go.
Flirting is its own reward.
Surf bathing levels all ranks.
Faint heart never won four ladies.
Hilarity covers a multitude of sins.
Two chaperons are better than one.
It's a long head that has no turning.
There's no fool like a summer fool.
Absence makes the heart grow fonder.
A little summer girl is a dangerous thing.
A man is known by the secrets he keeps.
The summer girl makes cowards of us all.
The proof of the picnic is in the eating.
In a multitude of summer girls there is safety.
A hand in the hand is worth two in the gloves.
Seaside communications corrupt good manners.
One touch of sunburn makes the whole world skin.
Take care of the tents and the towns will take care of themselves.
It's a sea breeze that blows nobody good.—Puck.

WOMAN AND THE PROVERBS.

The Arabian declares: "Words are women; deeds are men."
The Scotch say: "Honest men marry soon, wise men never."
In Fife they say: "The next best thing to no wife is a good wife."
The French adage: "A man of straw is worth a woman of gold."
The Persian sage says that a woman's wisdom is under her heel.
The Persian asserts that women and dragons are best out of the world.
The German affirms that every daughter of Eve would rather be beautiful than good.
The German: "There are only two good women in the world—one dead and the other can't be found."
An old English saying: "If a man lose a woman and a farthing he will be sorry he lost the farthing."
The Spanish rhyme has it: "Were a woman as little as she is good, a peapod would make her a gown and a hood."
The Corsican says: "Just as a good and a bad horse both need the spur, a good and a bad woman both need the stick."
The Hindoo: "A man is not obeyed by his wife in his own house, nor does she consider him her husband unless he beats her." Another Hindoo proverb says: "Drive out a woman's nature with a pitchfork and it will return again and again."

TO THE POINT.

Money may be acquired by accident—manners never.
The worst thing about eating is that it takes away one's appetite.
For multitudes of young people there is no home, only a place to sleep in.
The simplicity of those who advocate it is, perhaps, the most remarkable thing about the simple life.
The dark seriousness of death is a directly effective background for the harlequinade of a wasted existence.
The simple life does not need lentils or cellular clothing; it needs those rarer things, gratitude and humility.
We often delude ourselves with the idea that we are virtuous, when in reality we are simply giving our accustomed follies a rest.

If you wish for truth, you must give freedom; there must be neither exaction nor tyranny. It is human to desire liberty, and the yoked human creature does not express his genuine opinions.

PETTY GRIEVANCES OF LIFE.

Some men only need one match to light their pipes unless it happens to be the last match.
Isn't it annoying to keep your seat in a street car while some woman stands, and when you get to the end of your journey discover that the standing female is an old friend of the family?

No sooner does a man swear off smoking than his friends present him with cigars of every description; before swearing off he had a hard time borrowing the "makings" of a "cigarette."—Detroit Free Press.

Trouble For Lawson's Plan.

Evidently Mr. Lawson is going to have as much trouble to make this plan work as he has had with some of his other schemes, for instance his efforts to break the Wall street market and his promise to have a receiver appointed for Standard Oil.

Wan Hope For Consumptives.
Rockford Register Gazette: Little patience is manifest as a rule for supposed cures for tuberculosis, but the announcement of a new treatment offered by Prof. Behring at the tuberculosis congress held in Paris last week has created a veritable sensation. The success of his anti-toxin treatment for diphtheria explains the authority with which he speaks. Some of the plans for special hospitals for this plague in America are being held or revised, in order to profit by the Behring discoveries. Hope has lately succeeded to despair in his methods for coping with this malady.

Back-Smashers' Sad Handicap.
Chicago Record-Herald: At present the deer hunters have a considerable advantage over the football players in the number of men killed. The open season for guides, however, began before the football smashers got into condition to do much back-breaking.

An Odd Scientific Reward.
One of the odd rewards offered by the French Academy of Science is that of $20,000, established by Pierre Guzman, for the discoverer of means of communication with another planet.

Courtship in Siam.
A Siamese lover must announce his first visit to his lady love four months in advance, and when the day arrives and he proposes the maiden must wait decorously for two hours before giving him her answer, although she surely has decided before his arrival. What would impatient American lovers think of such proceedings?

Only One.
Miss Bragg—When the present King of England was here, in 1860, my grandfather entertained him at dinner. Our family plate was used on that occasion and the Prince—
Miss Sharpe—Had to use a plate borrowed from the neighbors, I suppose.

It Went.
The next man who was examined as to his qualifications for serving on the jury pleaded unfitness.
"I beg pardon, your honor," he said, turning to the judge, "but it is not customary for a butcher to sit on a jury in a murder trial, is it?"
"No," said the judge. "Are you a butcher?"
"I suppose that's what you might call me, your honor. I'm a manufacturer of fly paper."
"You may stand aside, sir," said the judge, coughing violently in his handkerchief.

QUIT HESITATING

and putting off the matter of consulting Dr. Richards about your dental work.

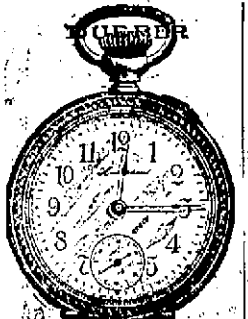

Cold weather is approaching and something must be done. People all around are saying that his work is really PAINLESS. Just look at what this man says: "I want to say—that you believe it or not, but it is the truth—that Dr. Richards extracted a whopping big molar for me last Saturday, Oct. 14, WITHOUT A BIT OF PAIN to me. He wanted me to save it, but I insisted on his taking it out and he did the job up O. K. Gus Smalley of Johnston."

Now, candidly, could such testimonials be anything but truth when the man's name and address is given and you are invited to verify it by asking him about it.

Dr. Richards has over 500 just such candid endorsements of pleased patients.

He can do for you if you choose him to do your dental work.

WERE MARRIED AT HIGH NOON TODAY

Miss Cora Brown of This City and Judge Ralph Adair of Iowa, Kansas, Wedded.

At high noon today Miss Cora Brown, daughter of Mrs. Ida Brown of this city, and Judge Ralph Adair of Iowa, Kansas, were wedded at the home of the bride's mother at 109 Fourth avenue. The ceremony was simple and performed by Rev. R. C. Denison. Only the relatives of the contracting parties were present and there were no attendants. The house was very prettily decorated with autumn foliage and flowers and a tempting wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Adair will leave this evening at six o'clock for Kansas City and in a few days go to Iowa, where they will reside. The bride is a very popular and charming young woman and the groom is a prominent attorney in Iowa. He practiced law in Janesville for two years and left for Iowa eighteen months ago. After residing there for eight months he ran for the office of police judge and in the primary won out after a bitter campaign by one vote. In the capacity of judge he won a great deal of newspaper publicity a few months ago, presiding in the case of disorderly conduct against the father of General Funston.

HAD GREAT SPORT WITH THE COOTS

Janesville Hunting Party Report the Finest Kind of Mud-Hen Shooting at Lake Koshkonong.

Victor P. Richardson, George McKoy, and George King, who, company with A. E. Bingham and Fred Clemens, have been enjoying the fall hunting at Lake Koshkonong, returned to the city today. They report great sport with the coots, more commonly known as mud-hens, and good hickory-nutting, but do not go into raptures when ducks are mentioned. Chances for the latter they found few and far between. There were no canvasbacks to be seen and only a few stray bluebills and redheads. One or two flocks passed a half mile or so above the lake, appearing indisposed to land. It is the opinion of the local sportsmen that the ducks have either decided to spend the winter in Canada, or have given Lake Koshkonong the go-by. Henry Carpenter and the Skaviem boys reported that they had bagged a few but the Bingham-McKoy party refused to believe unless the web-feet were actually produced.

PEACE CONFERENCE FOR TURTLEVILLE

Is in Progress at City Hall This Afternoon—Action in Court May Be Drooped.

It is possible that the feud in the Turtleville school district will have been peacefully ended without recourse to the courts before the Gazette reaches its readers this afternoon. It will be recalled that a criminal action was started against Nelson Wheeler, clerk of the school board, for alleged failure to call a meeting at the request of six duly qualified electors, the law providing that a meeting should be convened in every such instance. The hearing was set for this morning. At the request of the parties the case was held open until this afternoon at three and when that hour arrived they had not appeared to report progress. Lawyers representing the state and the Turtleville element who are fighting the closing of the school in that locality were trying to compromise the case and draw up a stipulation to which both sides would agree.

FOND DU LAC CITIZEN ON WAY TO KEELEY

Institute at Rockford, and Indulging Craving for Liquor for Last Time, Came to Grief Here.

This forenoon a well-dressed and finely groomed man of perhaps fifty-eight years of age alighted from one of the trains from the north and soon afterwards stumbled and fell on the depot platform, injuring his nose in such a manner as to cause it to bleed profusely. He was espied by one of the police officers and thinking that some terrible mishap had befallen him, a physician was sent for. In the meantime the stranger had been taken to the station in the city hall, where it was discovered he was under the influence of intoxicants and drugs to a marked degree. When he was sufficiently sobered to talk coherently he told Marshal Appleby that he was a dry-goods merchant from Fond du Lac, where a son was also engaged in the newspaper profession, and was on his way to the Keeley institute at Rockford to take treatment for intemperance. He wore a beautiful diamond ring and had other valuables on his person and it was thought best to send a patrolman with him for the balance of the journey. Officer Peter Champion accompanied him to the Forest City.

Warning to Hunters: Deputy Game Warden Peter Drafaal was in the city today and again spoke words of warning with regard to the hunting licenses, taking as his text: "It is better to pay one dollar and be law-abiding than to run the risk of paying fifty and one." He states that Walter Brun of Jefferson has just been brought into court and made to pay a fine and costs amounting to $55 for hunting without a license.

Injustice to Gokey Family: It appears from the statements made by members of the Gokey family today that considerable injustice was done them in a report of the smallpox cases appearing in Tuesday's paper. Mrs. Gokey says that all in her household observed a rigid quarantine, and took every precaution, going nowhere and admitting no visitors, indeed, for two weeks after the health officer had removed the card. She furthermore states that no member of the Gillespie family ever visited her home and that the report that a woman who had visited there during the time the family was afflicted afterwards went to the Gillespie home is untrue, as the woman in question was not admitted to the house.

Fined for Drunkenness: For drunkenness and disorderly conduct, J. Walker this morning paid a fine of $2 and costs in municipal court.

KICKERS' KOLUM

Have Enough Puddles Now

Editor Kickers' Kolum: That plan proposed by Rollin Lewis, whom you allude to as "a landscape gardener" in your issue of Saturday, of turning a certain hole in the Courthouse park into a pretty puddle for children and dogs to splash in may be all well enough, but it strikes me that the county, city and citizens better devote their attention to some of the puddle-pockets in the streets that are not so pretty before humoring any whimsical fancies of this particular sycophant.

"PUBLIC POLICY."

Saw Something He Didn't Expect

Kickers' Kolum Editor: Last Monday night I saw something I never expected to see in Janesville. I saw a body of our foremost citizens, duly chosen by the electorate to protect and safeguard the people's rights and to boldly and fearlessly stand forth on their own bottoms on every question that might arise, weakly duck for the shelter of a secret ballot, and it was on a matter in which every body had a right to know just where every mother's son of them stood. I refer to the council's meeting and the action taken on those railroad franchises. What right had they to do it? Did they think it would pass by unnoticed? Not by a jugful. If the race of strong men has died out hereabouts we have none the less got our eyes glued right on the fellows who are trying to hold down their paws.

"NOT A CHRONIC KICKER."

Endorses Lily-Lake Plan.

Dear Editor: Right at the outset I will say that this is no bilious kick. Far from it. On the contrary it is an enthusiastic endorsement of the plan proposed by an embryo landscape gardener, to convert that unwholesome hollow in our Court House park into a fish-pond. Why not? It would only cost the city a little water and too little of that commodity is used hereabouts at present writing, according to my observations, anyway. With a shimmering lake in our Court House park would be unequalled in beauty by any I have ever heard of in this country. Of course it is meant to stock that artificial bayou with some good game-fish, and maybe he contemplates planting some wild rice, along with the lilies. To be sure, no one would think of shooting wild ducks in the city limits, and seems to me it would be a nice, genteel, humane thing to do to provide a sort of haven of refuge for the poor birds. It ought to pay to advertise Janesville as a good residence place, even among the fowls of the air. We made a bid for squirrels some time ago, but we cut the holes in their homes too small and didn't provide any acorn trees, in the immediate vicinity. Fishing, naturally, comes under a different category. They are under water most of the time and the only way to observe their habits, "consarn 'em," is to lance into the vernacular "to pull them out with a hook." I would advocate the exclusion of all gold-fish and purely ornamental variety-bird nonentities, and the planting of pike, bass, and brook trout. "Wojlan!" it be bully to creep over there just before sunrise on a June morning and drop a fake frog in among the lily-pads? Along with the lake there ought to be a fine artificial brook meandering through the grove and serving as an inlet. This would make boating feasible and give the skaters a chance in the winter time. If Alderman Brockhaus should wish to scatter a few plaster-of-paris Venuses-de-Milo's or Diana-of-the-Hunt's amid this sylvan scene, it would be O. K.

"SPOON-HOOK."

To the Editor: Why not abandon your Kickers' Kolum and open a "Boosters' Column?" This would do more good than having your paper filled with foolish complaints and imaginary matters. Boost your town; do not "knock." Tell the people how well the city parks were cared for this past summer, how the people enjoyed them; say a good word for the street commissioner, for the council, for the Mayor, for the police, and do not always be harping on some little things that do not amount to anything at all. It is boasting that is going to help Janesville become a city of importance in the eyes of the public. Every knock is not a boost by a good deal, no matter if some one's self says so. Janesville is a good town to live in and lots of us would not be here. Then why not make the rest of the population contented instead of always stirring them up by croaking about something or other that is not important enough to give space in the paper. When your correspondents discuss Janesville why not state that during the theatrical season Janesville has the best shows on the road. That people do not have to go to Milwaukee or Chicago to see the big stars of the theatrical world as they do in Madison but stay at home. That little motto "Buy it in Janesville" might also be played in frequently to remind people that it is the home industries that build up the town. The Janesville Advancement Association is another good thing that should have been boosted instead of knocked. I do not mean that any one has as yet knocked it but instead of the customary abuse of conditions this matter might be written upon intelligently.

"AN OLD CUSS."

To the Editor: Can you explain why the readers of the news papers of to-day crave for so much yellowness in their daily papers? Can you inform me what good it does to print daily the list of drunks taken to the court? Can you answer these two questions without too much trouble to yourself?

H. B. M.

N. B. (By The Editor): The love for yellow journalism is perhaps due to the environments that we live in. The every day life of the average reader is full of excitement and when they pick up their paper for rest they want to be able to scan its contents quickly. They do not want to take time to read carefully the days happenings. The paper merely meets the demands of the readers. The paper tries to voice public sentiment. One great benefit derived from printing the names of the drunks and disorderlies taken to court may be said to be the publicity that this gives their misdeed. A fine by the judge for over-indulgence is not half so hard a penance as the fact that friends and acquaintances know of their disgrace. Every day the plea is brought forth "Please do not use my name. I do not care for myself but my family." The answer usually is that the victim should have thought of this phase before he was arrested. While such items as are mentioned often are far-reaching in their hurt, injuring the feelings of others beside the victim they have a tendency to make others more careful of their actions that they are not treated in a like manner.

House Work

Need Not Wear Her Out

The drudgery of house work seems never ending to tired-out, dispirited women who suffer from female complaints or irregularities. Inflammation and ulceration of the womb and ovaries cause fearful bearing down pains which are aggravated by much standing on the feet, and lifting necessary in house work.

But let no woman despair of relief from this torture. That famous tonic retractor of diseased or disordered female organism, has cured more than one million American Women, and it will cure you. When monthly periods are painful or irregular, when back-aches and headaches drive out all ambition, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring back health, strength, and happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

It Gave Me New Life and Vigor

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last spring, while we were moving, I did considerable more work than my strength permitted, and, having mental trouble at the same time, my health broke down completely and I found myself unable to rest or eat. My nervous system became shattered and I was pale and emaciated and had to take to my bed. My sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, although I had no faith in patent medicines, I was so miserable that I would take anything for relief. I found that it made a complete change for the better, inducing appetite and restful sleep and imparting new life and vigor to my entire system. I gained nearly fourteen pounds, my complexion looked fresh and clear, and my best friends were surprised and pleased at the change and could hardly credit the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had accomplished it.

ILLINOIS LABOR CHIEFS GATHER

President Cohen Calls Attention to Dangers Surrounding the Open Shop.

WORKERS CONTROL SITUATION

Exercise of Self-interest in Making Purchases Would Put Powerful Weapon in Hands of Those Affiliated With Unions.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 18.—Greater solidarity and the elimination of inter-union strife, so as to more successfully meet the organized opposition of employers, was the keynote of President Barney Cohen's address to the delegates assembled here to attend the twenty-third annual convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

President Cohen called the attention of the delegates to the aggressive policy of associations of employers which, he said, was everywhere apparent, and suggested intelligent utilization of the purchasing power of the organized workers as a weapon with which to fight the open shop. He declared that the open shop, stripped of the sentimental talk of personal liberty with which the employers surround it, really means the open door to a decrease in wages and a lengthening of the hours of labor.

Another recommendation contained in the report which met with the approval of the delegates was for the formation of women's labor leagues in every city and town in the state. Cohen declares that the women are largely the purchasers in every workman's home, and that only through organization can they be educated to select articles made under union conditions.

Denies Convict Labor Reports.

In his report, President Cohen refers in detail to the remedial legislation enacted in the last General Assembly through the efforts of the legislative committee of the State Federation in conjunction with other union officials. He denies the reports which have been circulated that prisoners in the penal institutions are suffering for lack of work as a result of the convict labor law which became effective in July, 1904. Letters from the various wardens and figures are shown in support of his contention.

In urging greater solidarity and the centralization of power, by the trade unions, Cohen says in his report:

"In our system of organization we should leave no weak spots to lessen our effectiveness or help unto our antagonists. It seems to me essential that every trade union local should be in good standing, not only with the international of its craft, but should also be in complete affiliation with the central labor body of its town or city and with the state federation."

Warns Unions Against Wrangling.

"It should never be forgotten," he says, "that while our preponderance of numbers gives us a powerful weapon if rightly used, that same numerical strength is a source of weakness if we are divided among ourselves. We neutralize our efforts by pulling in opposite directions."

"Subsidiary to the recommendation made, but worthy of special mention, I would urge that during the coming year every district in Illinois be covered by branch locals of the Women's Union Labor League, i.e., wives, sisters and daughters of workmen should keep in constant touch with each other so as to utilize their purchasing power to benefit union workers by demanding the label on every article."

Secretary Morris, in his report, shows more unions attached to the state body than was the case a year ago and that the finances are in a satisfactory condition.

PEACEFUL PICKETING IS HIT

Printers' Union Is Held to Be Engaged in Unlawful Conspiracy.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—When picketing and boycotting are indulged in as a means of forcing a closed shop on an employer against his will they become unlawful methods.

Such was the ruling of Judge Holcomb after hearing arguments on the motion to dissolve the injunction secured a week ago by the Chicago Typographical Union No. 16.

Judge Holcomb denied the motion to dissolve but gave the defendants leave to renew their motion.

The injunction was granted on affidavits, which charged the union with using threats, intimidation, the picket line, bribery and the boycott as a means to enforce upon the employers an unlawful contract of an eight hour day and a closed shop.

The attorney for the printers in his argument upheld the right of the union to employ these methods on the basis of lawful competition. Judge Holcomb held that the union could not consistently be classed as competitors.

"Many of the actions charged in themselves might be harmless," the court held, "but when used even in the slightest degree to carry out the unlawful scheme upon which the defendants have embarked they become in themselves unlawful with the legal definition of a conspiracy."

Jap "Weed" Profit $16,000,000.—Tokio, Oct. 18.—It is estimated that the profits of the tobacco monopoly this year will be $16,000,000, but it is expected they will be $500,000 more than the actual calculations.

PADEREWSKI AND POKER.

The Great Pianist Does Not Play the Game as He Plays the Piano.

Chicago's foremost musician was speaking. "Paderewski is a great pianist, but he is also a great poker player—a fact that very few people seem to be aware of. He is a great poker player, that is, in the sense that he is immensely enthusiastic, for he certainly has no great luck at the game, though he calls it the best sport in the world, and never misses a chance to play, in spite of the experience which must have taught him by this time that he almost invariably loses."

"I've played at the same table with him just once, but I never shall forget that evening. A Kenwood millionaire and Paderewski had presided at the piano for something like an hour, and we were all of us wondering what he had been paid. I remember 'Now the host is an enthusiast in the great American game,' and somehow Paderewski heard this. Wherefore he proposed a game, and when he was told that American gentlemen never play for money with their guests, he was so keenly cut up, as well as so insistent, that in the end a table was formed, and somewhere along about one o'clock we began play. We stopped about daybreak, with Paderewski some $5,000 to the bad."

"But then it was a 'cheap' game for the musician, as our host told me later that he had received $4,000 for playing the piano."

VICTIM OF THE FAMILY.

Having Made a Fortune, This Old Man Is Now Under Discipline.

Every morning at nine o'clock precisely an old gentleman, walking with the aid of a stout cane, enters a saloon and takes a seat in a corner where he is comparatively safe from observation, says the New York Press. The bartender, without asking questions, carries to him a cigar and a drink of whisky, and the old gentleman smokes and sips in apparent contentment. Just before the cigar is finished he takes another drink. Then he walks slowly down to Riverside drive and sits in a shady spot until lunch time, when he enters a fine mansion near by and is seen no more until the following morning.

"That's a funny case," said the bartender, as the old gentleman went out after his customary cigar and drinks. "He's a retired banker and lives in luxury. He has a large family and they have everything they wish for. But the old man is looked upon as a sort of necessary evil about the house. He is not permitted to smoke in the house, and as for drinking—why, any member of the family would have a fit if they saw anything of an alcoholic nature on the premises."

"Now, that he has made the money which supports them, they relegate the old man to the rear, and he is at that age where he hasn't spirit to rebel. So he comes in here every day and 'sneaks' his drink and smoke and goes back home contented. Ain't this a queer world?"

DEEP INJUSTICE TO BOSTON

Real Size of the City Is Misrepresented by Figures of the Census.

The census figures just published show a population for Boston of 593,593. But what Boston? Not the Boston comprised in the metropolitan water system, or the metropolitan sewer system, or the metropolitan park system. It is obviously only the Boston that sleeps here at night, says the Globe.

The city of London shows a population of 2,700,000. But what London is that? It is a small, circumscribed area that nobody ever thinks of as the real London that spreads its great body out over so many districts. Speaking in these narrow terms, Boston is much more than 20 times larger than London.

All other great American cities show figures of population which are real. Boston alone shows figures which do not represent by half her real population. Practically no Chicagoans live outside of Chicago, no Philadelphians outside of Philadelphia, no St. Louisans outside of St. Louis, and New York has gathered in substantially all her people save those that sleep in New Jersey.

The cities and towns comprising the metropolitan district, or, as it is often called, Greater Boston, show very large gains in the census figures, and give a population of nearly a million and a quarter, which very properly may be accepted as the real population of the real Boston.

Boat Made of Orange Boxes.

A curious boat was launched lately at Penzance. It was the work of an old seafaring man of 70, named Ellis, who made it out of odd pieces of wood, chiefly orange boxes, in his back yard. The boat was carried down to the water, and while en route stuck in a narrow street, and a wall had to be pulled down to let it pass. It has been romantically christened True Love, but its name among the Penzance folk is The Ark.

RHEUMATISM

BODY RACKED WITH PAIN

No other bodily suffering is equal to that produced by the pain of Rheumatism. When the poisons and acids, which cause this disease, become entrenched in the blood there is hardly any part of the body that is not affected. The muscles become sore and drawn, the nerves twitch and sting, the joints inflame and swell, the bones ache, every movement is one of agony, and the entire body is racked with pain. Rheumatism is brought on by indigestion, stomach troubles, torpid liver, weak kidneys and a general inactive state of the system. The refuse matter instead of passing off through nature's avenues is left to sour and form uric acid, and other acids poisons which are absorbed into the blood. Rheumatism does not affect all alike. In some cases it takes a wandering form; it may be in the arms or legs one day and in the shoulders, feet, hands, back or other parts of the body the next. Others suffer more seriously, and are never free from pain. The uric acid and other irritating substances find lodgment in the muscles and joints and as these deposits increase the muscles become stiff and the joints locked and immovable. It matters not in what form the disease may be the cause is always the same—a sour, acid condition of the blood. This vital stream has lost its purity and freshness, and instead of nourishing and feeding the different parts with health-giving properties, it fills them with the acids and salts of this painful and far-reaching disease. The cold and dampness of winter always intensify the pains of Rheumatism, and the sufferer to get relief from the agony, rubs the affected parts with liniments, oils, lotions, etc., or uses plasters and other home remedies. These are desirable because they give temporary ease and comfort but have no effect on the real trouble which is in the blood and beyond the reach of such treatment. S. S. S. is the best remedy for Rheumatism. It goes into the blood and attacks the disease at its head, and by neutralizing and driving out the acids and building up the thin, sour blood it cures the disease permanently. While cleansing the blood S. S. S. tones up the stomach, digestion and every other part of the system, soothes the excited nerves, reduces the inflammation, dissolves the deposits in the joints, relieves all pain and completely cures this distressing disease. S. S. S. is a certain cure for Rheumatism in any form: Muscular, Inflammatory, Articular or Sciatic. Special book on the disease and any medical advice, without charge, to all who write. About fifteen years ago I had a severe attack of Rheumatism and could not work with any satisfaction. My legs were badly swollen and drawn so I could scarcely walk. I tried many remedies but could get no relief. I was finally recommended to try S. S. S. and it soon cured me sound and well. I am now 74 years old and have never had any return of the trouble.

JOSEPH FROME HAWLEY, Aurora, Ill.

Sometimes ago I had Rheumatism and had to quit work. The pains in my back and between my shoulders was so intense that I could not sleep. I tried everything but nothing did me any good till I heard of and took S. S. S. This medicine cured me sound and well. It purified my blood and made me feel like a new man.

CHANGES CIVIL SERVICE RULES

Cabinet Officers Are Given Power to Remove Employees for Cause.

BARS TRIAL BY COMMISSION

Misconduct or Inefficiency, When Observed by Head of Department, Is Considered Sufficient Reason for Immediate Dismissal.

Washington, Oct. 18.—A sweeping amendment to civil service rules, giving a cabinet officer power to remove any employee summarily and without hearing, has been authorized by President Roosevelt. Thereby the authority of the administration's subexecutive is made absolute.

The only limitation is that the official must have personal knowledge of misconduct or inefficiency of the man he intends to discharge and must state the cause of removal in writing. All this, however, is left to his own discretion, and there is no recourse.

The amendment is one of the most important and far-reaching made to the civil service rules in many years. It confers upon cabinet officers practically unlimited power as to the personnel of their departments.

Commission Has No Recourse.

Heretofore the appointing officer was required to report in detail to the civil service commission all changes in his department as soon as made and the reasons for making them. In every case of the removal of a civil service employee charges had to be filed against the person whom it was proposed to remove and the employee was given time in which to meet the charges. With such defense as he might have to make.

Under the amendment such a proceeding will not be necessary. A head of a department may discharge an employee for misconduct or inefficiency with the simple statement to the civil service commission that the misconduct or inefficiency is a subject of his personal observation.

It is said that the amendment was made at the instance of members of the cabinet, who hold that under the present construction of the civil service rules they often are unable to deal properly with cases of misconduct and inefficiency of which they are personally cognizant.

Assurance is given that the amendment was not made to apply to any particular case now pending. Its purpose, as stated, is to improve the discipline of the departmental forces.

All Due to Chauffeur.

While members of the cabinet frequently have discussed such an amendment to the civil service rules, the subject was brought directly to the attention of President Roosevelt recently by the misconduct of a chauffeur of one of the government automobiles. The driver of the automobile piloted his machine directly in the way of Mr. Roosevelt's carriage, and seemed to take delight in cutting him out of the road.

When the president learned who the chauffeur was he said he ought to be discharged as incapable of operating the machine. The subject was pressed by members of the cabinet and the decision was reached to make the amendment to the civil service rules in order that misconduct of a government employee might be made the cause for instant dismissal.

It fills the arteries with rich, red blood. Makes new flesh and healthy men and women. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35 cents, tea or tablets. Smith Drug Co.

INDICTMENTS HELD TO BE FAULTY

Court Declares Defendant Is Entitled to Know Names of Alleged Conspirators.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—Judge Willis Vandever in the United States court of appeals announced that he had sustained the demurrer to the indictment of United States Senator Burton of Kansas on the ground that the indictment was faulty. He ordered that another indictment be returned at once.

Before announcing his decision Judge Vandever explained his position, discussing the indictment in part and pointing out its faults. He coincided with the attorneys for the defense in their contentions that if their client had entered into an agreement to appear before the postoffice department for compensation he was entitled to know who he had entered into this alleged compact with.

Judge Vandever then set Nov. 9 as the date for a special grand jury to meet to hear witnesses for the government against Senator Burton. Senator Burton gave bond in the sum of $5,000 assuring his appearance on that date and thereafter at the call of the government officers.

The grounds upon which Judge Vandever sustained the demurrer of the defense, which dismisses the indictment, were that the charge failed to name the person with whom Senator Burton made his alleged agreement to receive compensation for appearing before the postoffice department in behalf of the Rialto Grain and Securities company of St. Louis to prevent the issuance of a fraud order, that the charge that he knew of the pendency of the case in the department is not explicit and that it is not shown that the postmaster general had any right to make the investigation.

In commenting on the points on which the demurrer was sustained the court said: "The defendant must be reasonably informed of the charge against him. It is a crime to kill a man, but an indictment for murder must state who was killed."

"This is necessary that either conviction or acquittal on any charge may serve as a bar to future prosecution on the same charge."

"Whatever knowledge constitutes part of an offense the knowledge must be charged in the indictment."

"The indictment did not set forth that the postmaster general was investigating anything which it is in his power to investigate."

CUBA WANTS A REVISED TREATY

Better Commercial Relations With the United States Is Imperative.

Havana, Oct. 18.—The seven commercial, industrial and agricultural associations of Cuba held a joint meeting here and unanimously passed a resolution to the effect that the great commercial need of Cuba is a new and if possible a permanent commercial treaty with the United States. The meeting elected a commission composed of prominent representatives of each interest concerned to initiate a movement toward obtaining such a treaty. It is expected that the movement incidentally presages the certain death of the Anglo-Cuban commercial treaty the ratification of which is now pending in the senate. Business interests universally are awakening to the fear of retaliation by the United States.

THE SCANDAL IN POSTAL AFFAIRS

Probe May Be Extended to Other Indiana Cities to Ascertain if Employees Are Assessed.

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 18.—Goshen's postoffice scandal, growing out of forced contributions to campaign funds by the employees, may prove more far-reaching than the most bitter enemy of Postmaster C. D. Sherwin had hoped. The postmaster has been under fire now for eight weeks, and the result of the investigation promises to bring into the scandal some of the best known and most highly respected men in Indiana.

That the investigation is not for "white-washing" purposes was shown Tuesday with the arrival of Assistant Postmaster General Robb of Washington, D. C., and United States District Attorney Joseph Keating of Indianapolis. Within an hour after reaching the city the two officials began holding a secret inquiry. All the clerks employed at the Goshen postoffice have been ordered to appear and testify.

Judging from hints dropped by persons who are closely following the case, President Roosevelt does not intend to stop with the Goshen inquiry, but will extend the investigation throughout Indiana, especially in the cities over which political storms have been centered. While the names of the cities have not been given out, it is understood that not one of the large cities will escape.

It is reported at Goshen that there is much matter in the investigation that has not been given to the public. According to statements of Goshen politicians, Civil Service Commissioner Greene was told of some unusual things about the postoffice, some of them being that profanity was indulged in in the presence of ladies and children who came to the postoffice for mail, that baseball was played in the workroom, that the office never was open during the evenings, and that several clerks were incompetent to fulfill the duties required of them.

District Attorney Keating left for Chicago, where he will examine United States Circuit Judge Baker regarding the charges of the civil service commission that the judge advised a Goshen postoffice employee to contribute to campaign funds.
